

The Real Reason the Titanic Sank by Nick, and Brian

“Go go go!” yelled Shredder

“I'm going as fast as I can!” Grizzly yelled back.

“Well, go faster he's almost caught us.”

Shredder, a small, skinny, gray mouse, and Grizzly an equally sized naked mole rat were running from a horrible cat named Mittens. Mittens, a tabby cat had found Shredder and Grizzly sharing a chunk of cheese. He began to pounce but by a stroke of luck, a car drove by. That made Shredder look up. He saw mittens. He grabbed Grizzly's hand and started to run. Mittens- annoyed that he had to work for a meal- chased after them. He chased them for along time. Until he chased them onto a dock. Shredder saw a way to lose Mittens. Shredder and Grizzly ran up a gangplank and onto a ship called the Titanic.

Mittens chased them across the main deck, down some stairs and onto the passenger deck.

Shredder and Grizzly hid in a closet, and watched Mittens run by. Nobody knows how long they stayed there. Finally Shredder couldn't take it anymore. He dragged a complaining Grizzly out on the main deck. He looked over the edge and saw they were in the Atlantic Ocean. Mittens was wandering around when he saw them. He took off as fast as he could. Shredder heard Mittens as he lunged at them. Shredder grabbed Grizzly and ran as fast as he could. He ran up two flights of stairs. Mittens ran almost as fast as they were. Shredder and Grizzly jumped through the door to the control room right as it closed. Mittens wasn't as lucky, he smashed into the door.

Mittens-driven by revenge instead of hunger- jumped at the door knob and opened it. He saw Shredder and Grizzly standing on the wheel.

“So we meet again, Mittens,”

“We do?”.

says Grizzly

Mittens lunged at them, but Shredder and Grizzly moved back. Mittens crashed into the wheel which made the Titanic turn into an iceberg. Mittens walked toward them. “I've been trying to catch you for years, now you're cornered. You have two choices: Option one, you drown or Option two I eat you. Which will it be?”

Shredder says, “I choose option three.”

He grabbed an empty wine bottle and smashed the window behind them. “So long, Mittens.” He grabbed Grizzly and jumped out the window. Mittens, mad that Shredder had evaded him again, lunged out the window. As Mittens jumped, Shredder yelled “Sabbath!” Then he saw a twenty foot megalodon jump out of the water and catch Shredder and Grizzly . Mittens kept falling and saw a forty foot megalodon named Black Eye ready to catch him. Shredder and Grizzly, who were watching, turned away as Mittens fell to his doom. They looked back and the water was tinted red. “O.K, Sabbath, you can go.” Sabbath swam away, the Titanic sinking behind him.

“How do you know this megladon?” asked Grizzly.

“Well, A couple of years back, Sabbath was stuck on the beach so I got an army of mice and we pushed him back into the sea.”

They traveled a long time until Sabbath said “Last stop: Hawaii.”

“Thanks, Sabbath, hope to see you again!”

They started walking toward the city, but they saw the rat kings right hand man, Scratch.

“Hurry, after that rat!”

They chased after Scratch and caught him.

“Tell us where the king is.”

A note from the authors:

I could tell you what Scratch said but that's another story.